

being fixed {with respect to each other}, said first portion being fixed to a body portion of the shaving apparatus.

C 2. (twice amended) A shaving apparatus [as claimed in Claim 1,] comprising a head assembly which houses at least one cutter assembly, the cutter assembly comprising a rotary cutter having cutter blades housed within a guard, the guard being provided with hair-entry apertures arranged in an annular ring and having a central opening within said annular ring, wherein the peripheral surface of the head assembly comprises, for the or each cutter assembly, a first portion inside the opening of said annular ring and a second portion outside the annular ring, the first and second portions being fixed with respect to each other, wherein [[a portion of the head assembly is removable, and, for the or each cutter assembly, the rotary cutter and the first portion of the peripheral surface are fixed to [the] a shaver body portion, and the guard is secured to the removable portion of the head assembly.

---

C 5. (amended) A shaving apparatus comprising a head assembly which houses at least one cutter assembly, the cutter assembly comprising a rotary cutter having cutter blades housed within a guard, the guard being provided with hair-entry apertures arranged in an annular ring, wherein the peripheral surface of the head assembly